

Goals for participants

- Encounter a supportive community where thoughts, questions and feelings about their loss can be safely explored
- Realize they are not alone; that others have experiences and feelings similar to their own
- Identify feelings and recognize how they come and go with time
- Learn helpful coping strategies and how to express feelings in healthy ways
- Move toward acceptance as inner strength and resilience are uncovered

Good Grief offers peer support groups . . .

designed to encourage supportive connection for children and youth who are living with grief due to a family death, divorce, separation or other painful transition.

- Mad
- Upset
- Nervous
- Happy
- Sad
- Embarrassed
- I don't want to think about it
- What divorce?

Participants are encouraged to explore and express their feelings through activities, games and comfortable conversation

Children and youth find acceptance, support and understanding from their leaders and peers

Groups ranging in levels from Kindergarten—high school are guided by trained, nurturing facilitators in a confidential setting.

A parent support group (currently via Zoom) is offered for those interested.
